Introduction
The mission of the High Line Canal Conservancy (Conservancy) is to preserve, protect and enhance the 71-mile-long High Line Canal in partnership with the public. As one of the nation’s longest and most cherished urban trails, the High Line Canal (Canal) not only connects various communities and people to nature but serves as an important ecological corridor. It is home to a vast array of species of flora and fauna ranging from beautiful and iconic cottonwood trees to playful foxes.

The Conservancy leads various trash cleanups along the Canal every summer to elevate the level of care for our beloved Canal while connecting people to nature and educating the community about the negative impacts of trash in the environment. Now, to expand our collective impact, the Conservancy has launched the Independent Cleanup program to encourage community members like you to take a lead role in stewarding the Canal. This Independent Cleanup toolkit is a resource highlighting the importance of cleaning up waste from the environment, how trash negatively impacts ecological resources like the Canal and how to successfully and safely execute a cleanup on your own. With this Independent Cleanup Toolkit and resources provided by the Conservancy, you can more easily become an environmental steward of the Canal, ensuring the plants and wildlife of the Canal thrive, while keeping the greenway safe and clean for all people to enjoy.
About the Independent Cleanup program
The Conservancy’s Independent Cleanup program gives community members the ability to actively participate in enhancing the ecological health of the 71-mile Canal and learn about the importance of environmental stewardship. It is an opportunity for neighborhood groups and Canal enthusiasts to help improve and elevate the level of care for the Canal. This independent volunteer program offers volunteers the flexibility to choose the location, time and date of their trash cleanup. Individuals and small groups are then able to steward the Canal on their own with resources provided by the Conservancy. Together, we can make an everlasting positive impact on the health of the Canal for generations to come.

Environmental Benefits of Trash Cleanups
The Canal is not only a recreational corridor but an ecological resource for the region – one that connects different environments from the foothills to the plains, each environment dictating a unique set of plants and wildlife. Too often, trash makes its way into our natural resources such as trails and open spaces, negatively impacting the ability for flora and fauna to thrive, and the Canal is no exception. As the Canal’s utility function transitions from an old irrigation delivery utility to a stormwater management system, the numerous environmental benefits of collecting and properly disposing of trash that has made its way into the environment is more important than ever. By removing trash from the Canal, you are helping combat significant environmental issues such as:

Harm to Wildlife: The Canal is home to a variety of wildlife such as big horn sheep, bears, birds of prey, foxes and deer to name a few. A majority of the trash found in the Canal is made up of plastic, metal and glass, items that take hundreds of years to breakdown. A plastic water bottle can take around 450 years to breakdown. As an ecological corridor, the trash found in the Canal can be mistaken for food by wildlife and obstruct their digestive system or wildlife can get entangled and trapped.

Water Pollution: As trash breaks down, toxins can leach into the soil and contaminate the water supply that is absorbed by plants and wildlife that live along the Canal. Toxins leached from trash can inhibit the growth of plants, poison wildlife and also pollute local water supply.

Harm to Communities: Over 350,000 residents live within a mile of the Canal and the Canal serves 500,000 plus users annually, making the Canal a popular recreation site. The trash that accumulates in the channel not only negatively impacts the local environment but can also negatively impact human health. The trash found in the Canal can attract unwanted rodents and pests that carry diseases that are harmful to our health.

Guide to a successful cleanup

Before your Cleanup
Prior to your cleanup, be sure to review the following items to get your cleanup started.

Register for the program: highlinecanal.org/IndependentCleanup
If you are interested in the Independent Cleanup program, please register online or by submitting the registration form by mail to 915 S Pearl St. Denver, CO 80209. By registering, the Conservancy is able to track the number of volunteers participating in the program and track areas of the Canal that have been cared for. Please note: When you register, you’re registered for the program and will not need to register again for each independent cleanup, therefore you only need to register once even if you plan to do multiple cleanups. (After each independent cleanup, you must submit your cleanup totals and findings). You can register individually or as a group. The program is limited to groups of 10 individuals. For groups larger than 10 people, please contact the Conservancy at volunteer@highlinecanal.org.

Check for trail updates: highlinecanal.org/trail-updates
The Conservancy is working closely with Denver Water and the 11 jurisdictions along the path to improve the trail as a place for people and protect the natural habitat for vegetation and wildlife. Projects along the trail include enhancements such as new navigational signage, Canal-wide initiatives such as tree care, as well as more significant infrastructure projects such as roadway underpasses and stormwater projects. Before you head out to the Canal, please visit the Conservancy’s trail updates page for the current status of all the major projects along the 71-mile greenway.

Select a location: Identify areas of the Canal that could be cleaned that are safe and accessible. If you are flexible on your cleanup location, please contact the Conservancy at volunteer@highlinecanal.org for suggested locations of the Canal that are in need of stewardship.
Gather your supplies: volunteer@highlinecanal.org

The basic cleanup supplies needed are gloves and trash bags. Gloves such as work gloves or gardening gloves are highly recommended as they are sturdier compared to single use nitrile gloves and can be reused multiple times, reducing the amount of waste you are creating during your cleanup. Be sure to bring any other personal items you may need such as water, snacks, sunscreen and hand sanitizer. Additionally, if you have a fish or luggage scale (a scale with a hook) you can use it to weigh the trash you have collected and accurately submit the pounds of trash removed from the Canal during your cleanup when submitting your cleanup totals.

The Conservancy is able to provide free trash bags and single-use gloves for participants if needed. Additionally, trash grabbers are available for a $5 deposit per item in cash or check. Deposits are refundable as long as trash grabbers are returned in working condition in a timely manner. Trash grabbers need to be returned within two weeks of check out. If you need supplies, please schedule a time to pick up your cleanup supplies at the Conservancy’s office by emailing volunteer@highlinecanal.org.

Review the Safety Procedures: Keeping our volunteers and Canal users safe is our top priority. Please read over the full safety procedures found in Attachment C to ensure you have a fun and safe cleanup. Additionally, be sure to share the safety procedures with anyone joining you.
If you encounter an encampment on your cleanup, please avoid the area and report this to the Conservancy and/or local governing agency. Please follow all. For emergencies, call 911. For concerns about the trail or activity on the trail, contact the local governing agency.

Submit your Volunteer Waiver: All participants must sign and submit a Volunteer Waiver to the Conservancy prior to your first cleanup. Waivers can be submitted electronically to volunteer@highlinecanal.org or via mail at 915 S Pearl St. Denver, Colorado 80209. Individuals under the age of 18 must have a parent/guardian signature. Volunteer Waivers must be completed in its entirety. If you are registered as a group, the individual who registered the group is responsible for collecting the group’s waivers.

During your cleanup

Distribute supplies: If others are joining you, be sure to distribute the cleanup supplies and ensure that all participants have gloves for the cleanup. For safety purposes, trash should never be picked up with bare hands.

Secure the trash: Be sure that the trash collected is properly secured in the trash bags to ensure that trash isn’t leaking out.

Document your cleanup: Photos are a great way to document your accomplishments. To help us track the cleanups and communicate the importance of this program, please consider the following:
• Take a before and after photo of the cleanup site as well as a final photo of all the trash that was removed from the Canal.
• Record your accomplishments of your cleanup by estimating the amount of trash collected. If you do not have a scale to weigh the trash collected, you can document the number of full 13-gallon trash bags (standard kitchen trash bag) collected.

After your cleanup

Properly dispose trash: Because this is an independent cleanup, participants are responsible for properly disposing the trash collected during their cleanup. Trash bags are not to be left on the trail. Trash bags can be disposed at any on-site trail trash cans (please note there are few along the Canal) or if near a park, at an on-site dumpster.

Share on social media: Follow the Conservancy on social media and tag us in your accomplishments! Sharing your experience and accomplishments from your cleanup is a great way to help spread the word so that others may become stewards of the Canal. It is also a great way to highlight the progress being made on the Canal. Be sure to use the following hashtags: #71miles #HighLineCanal #CanalSteward
Facebook @HighLineCanalConservancy
Twitter @COHighLineCanal
Instagram @HighLineCanal

Submit your cleanup totals: After each cleanup, fill out your Canal Cleanup Card (Attachment D) and mail it to the Conservancy or submit it online at Highlinecanal.org/Independent Cleanup. By submitting your Canal Cleanup Card, the Conservancy is able to gather important data from each independent cleanup. Additionally, the Conservancy is able to track where along the corridor is the Canal being cared for.
Canal Steward Recognition

The Conservancy offers stewardship recognition on the Conservancy’s website for individuals and/or groups who complete the Canal Steward recognition requirements. Groups and individuals interested in the program must complete the requirements within the calendar year. Canal Steward recognition requirements include:

CORONAVIRUS/COVID-19 ADDENDUM TO RELEASE, WAIVER AND ASSUMPTION OF THE RISK FOR EVENT PARTICIPATION

The novel coronavirus (“COVID-19”) has been designated as a global pandemic by the World Health Organization. There have been cases throughout the United States, including thousands of cases in Colorado. COVID-19 is contagious and can be spread through person-to-person contact. Federal, state, and local governments have issued recommendations to reduce the spread of COVID-19 such as staying at home, social distancing, not congregating in groups of people, and wearing facial coverings or masks. More information is available from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the Colorado Department of Public Health & Environment.

The Conservancy has implemented the following procedures based on recommended guidance by federal, state, and local governments for slowing the transmission of COVID-19, however the Conservancy cannot guarantee that you will not be exposed to or contract COVID-19.

1. Event participation size has been reduced to 10 people or fewer per day to help participants maintain a social distance of at least 6 feet from one another.

2. Registration is required for all Events.

3. A Participant may not participate in an Event if he or she (i) is experiencing symptoms of COVID-19, including but not limited to fever, cough, or shortness of breath, or (ii) has a suspected or confirmed case of COVID-19.

4. Participants are required to bring their water, snacks and any other necessary items.

5. Event Participants are highly encouraged to bring their own masks and gloves such as work or gardening gloves. However, the Conservancy will provide single use gloves and masks when needed.

The Conservancy may revise its procedures at any time based on updated recommended guidance issued by federal, state, and local governments. Additional information regarding the Conservancy’s response to COVID-19 as well as links to other resources can be found at highlinecanal.org/safe.

By signing this Coronavirus/COVID-19 Addendum to Release, Waiver and Assumption of the Risk for Event Participation (“Addendum”), I agree to abide by the Conservancy’s procedures as set forth above, as they may change from time to time. I further acknowledge the contagious nature of COVID-19 and voluntarily assume the risk that I may be exposed to or infected by COVID-19 by participating. in the Event and that such exposure or infection may result in personal injury, illness, permanent disability, and death. I understand that the risk of exposure to or infection by COVID-19 at the Event may result from the actions, omissions, or negligence of myself and others, including but not limited to the Conservancy.

I voluntarily agree to assume all of the foregoing risks and accept sole responsibility for any personal injury, illness, disability, and death that I may sustain in connection with my participation in the Event. I hereby release, indemnify and hold harmless the Conservancy from and against any and all liability, actions, debts, claims and demands of every kind whatsoever, specifically including, but not limited to, any claim for negligence or negligent acts or omissions and any present or future claim, loss or liability for illness or injury to person or property that I may suffer, or for which I may be liable to any other person, that may or does arise out of my participation in the Event. Attachment C: Safety Procedures

Volunteer safety is a top priority for the Conservancy. It is important to practice safety measures such as being aware of your surroundings, knowing your location and cross streets and avoiding touching hazardous materials. Please review the following safety procedures and be sure to share them with your group prior to your cleanup.

- Wear appropriate clothing such as sturdy and closed-toed shoes and long pants.
- Bring additional essentials you may need such as sunscreen, personal medication, water, snacks and a hat.
- ‘Know before you go.’ Various trail enhancements and projects are underway along the Canal. Be sure to check the Conservancy’s trail updates page to see if there are any trail projects that may conflict with your cleanup. highlinecanal.org/trail-updates/
- Participants should always wear gloves when stewarding the Canal. Participants are encouraged to use their own gloves such as gardening or work gloves. However, the Conservancy can provide free single-use disposable gloves for each of your cleanup events.
- Do not touch needles, syringes or other hazardous items. If you come across any hazardous materials please take a picture, note your location on the Canal and notify the Conservancy.
- Do not disturb or remove items from homeless encampments, regardless of their level of activity. Please notify the Conservancy of where these camps are located.
- Do not touch dead or injured animals.
- Participants are highly encouraged to always have a cell phone on hand in case of emergencies. Dial 911 in case of an emergency.
- Please report any injuries to the Conservancy.
Attachment D: Canal Cleanup Card
The Canal Cleanup Card allows participants to document their cleanup totals and findings to the Conservancy. By doing so, the Conservancy is able to gather important stewardship data needed for tracking our collective impact. The Canal Cleanup Card allows the Conservancy to track participant’s accomplishments and where the Canal is being cared for. After each independent cleanup, please submit your cleanup card by mail or online. Additionally, individuals and groups who are interested in the Canal Steward Recognition program, must submit their Canal Cleanup Card to verify their accomplishments.
